ARMS PACT COMPROMISE OPPOSED BY AUSTRALIANS

Danger Seen After Agreement With Japanese

DEBATE IS HELD

Delegates See Step Forward; Hope For Ratification

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, October 1.—Commenting on the proceedings at Geneva, Mr. Hughes, the former Commonwealth Prime Minister, says that Australia should not accept the compromise which has been reached, it being obvious that the Japanese are determined to bring under the League disputes regarding immigration laws against Japanese nationals.

Mr. S. M. Bruce, the Prime Minister, declines to comment on the matter but promises a statement later.

The Melbourne Herald says that Australia is not prepared to leave the fate of "white" Australia to foreign control and unless Japan abrogates her demand Australia cannot sign the protocol.

The Melbourne Evening Sun says: "We are no longer a free people if a deputy of the League can say whether we are allowed to keep Australia white." The journal adds that the desertion of the British delegates at Geneva is poor requital for Australia's priceless services to Britain in her hour of need.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 1.—The Galleries were crowded today when the League Assembly held a full-dress debate on the disarmament protocol.

Seventeen delegates spoke. The general tone was one of satisfaction at the League's great strides forward in securing peace. A hope was expressed that the protocol would be universally adopted and ratified.

M. Briand in an eloquent address assured France's co-operation in the carrying out of the protocol. The French Premier declared that when the protocol was published it would create such enthusiasm among the masses that an atmosphere of peace would be created everywhere. The finest thing, he said, was that the protocol made no differences between big and little nations.

The protocol will be published tonight.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 2.—Japan's objection to the protocol which was raised by Mr. Adatchi at Geneva was entirely one of principle and not connected with the immigration issue, which she has no intention of submitting for adjudication by the League of Nations, said a Foreign Office spokesman for Baron Shidehara, the Foreign Minister.

He stated that Japan believes that if the aim of the League is realisable, its powers should extend as a matter of principle, to all kinds of differences occurring between nations. Her stand was not prompted by a desire to enrol the sympathy of other nations with herself against America on the immigration issue.

The morning papers greatly appreciate the compromise reached, thus breaking up the deadlock, and express the opinion that its acceptance will enable the League to make a larger contribution to the peace of the world, instead of limiting its activities to Europe only, as seemed the purpose of the original draft of the protocol.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Oct. 2.—The report that the Japanese amendment to the Disarmament Protocol has been passed by the League Assembly has given not a little impulse to all quarters here. All the newspapers today publish editorials in this connection, in which they are unanimous in paying high tribute to the League Assembly and in stating that they cannot help congratulating the Assembly upon its success for the sake of world peace.

The "Jiji" says:—"It is most

HOUSE REJECTS MOVE TO KILL BOUNDARY BILL

Ulster Motion Is Rejected By Commons Following Debate

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—The House of Commons today rejected the Ulster motion for the rejection of the Irish boundary bill by 291 votes to 124, after which the bill passed its second reading.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—In the House of Commons today Captain Wedgwood Benn (Liberal) reopened the Irish debate.

He urged the adoption of an Imperial attitude, remembering that in the solution of the question lay the unity of Ireland as a Dominion of the British Commonwealth, he quoted General Smuts's famous letter to Mr. de Valera and asked the Conservatives whether we could break our word to the smallest Dominion without destroying the faith of the whole of the Dominions.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain accused the Government of altering the old treaty. He hoped that the Government would not destroy the possibility of agreement by putting pressure one side only.

Mr. J. R. Clynes, the Deputy Leader of the House, deprecated the anticipations in some quarters that disorders in Ireland would follow the operation of the bill.

Mr. Lloyd George said that the Government action was perfectly justified.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, winding up, gave a guarantee that the Government did not intend and would not appoint a commissioner when the bill became a law merely as a nominee of the British Government. He would try to find a man who would be a representative of Northern Ireland. Mr. Thomas expressed his long-rooted distaste at the necessity for the appointment of a boundary commission, which, he believed, would mean a permanent partition and be ruinous to Ireland's economic development. He declared that neither of the Irish leaders was unreasonable but their positions were very difficult.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—It is reported that the Government intend to nominate Lord Carson to represent Ulster on the Boundary Commission.

Chienping Is Taken, Says Dispatch From Mukden

100 ARE KILLED

Big Stores Of Guns And Ammunition Captured

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Mukden, Oct. 1.—General Li Ching-lin reports that the Second and Sixth Fengtien Armies took Chienping on the morning of September 29. The enemy losses were 100 killed and 1,000 wounded, while 200 prisoners, several machine-guns, hundreds of rifles and quantities of ammunition and military supplies were captured. The fall of Linyuan and Chihfeng is expected soon.

It is reported that Colonel Yin of the 13th Division of the Chihli Army has been shot at Linyung by General Tung Cheng-kuo owing to the fall of Peipiao and Chaoyang.

Fighting continues.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Oct. 1.—A special despatch from Shanhaikuan reports that on September 29 at 4.30 a.m. firing commenced on the first line outside the Great Wall near Shanhaikuan between the Chihli and Fengtien forces. In this battle which lasted about two hours, machine-guns and field-guns were put into operation. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, fighting was resumed on same front, and the sound of rifles, machine-guns and field pieces, could be plainly heard.

The battle that took place in the foregoing sector during the night of Sept. 29 had its inception with a night attack that was made by one battalion of the Fengtien troops upon the center of the Chihli defense-line. As a result of this battle, the Fengtien trops have captured a hill, which commands the position of the Chihli troops, about 2,500 metres from the Great Wall. Of the Chihli troops, 30 men were killed and about 100 wounded. Most of the shops in Shanhaikuan are closed and the streets are very quiet. At the station, there is only one military train with three anti-aircraft guns aboard.

On Sept. 30, three aeroplanes of the Chihli troops made a scouting flight over the Fengtien position. At 9 a.m., a Chinese man-of-war, with two masts and two chimneys, possibly belonging to the Chihli side, was distinctly seen from the east end of the Great Wall. The headquarters of the 15th Chihli Division, under the command of General Pen Shou-shin, was armed with a number of machine-guns, and was being guarded within and without by sentries. The Eastern News Agency's representative tried to interview General Pen Shou-shin, but in vain, for the general was to all appearances, not staying there. On October 1, the Chihli troops, for the first time, resorted to heavy-guns, firing off six rounds in all.

Official Reports Scanty At Sungkiang; Firing Is Reported By Railway Men

Refugees Assert That Fukien And Chekiang Soldiers Meet Four Miles South Of Sungkiang; Chekiang Places Front Lines Well Ahead Of Reported Rifle Fire

BY TALBOT PATRICK

Sungkiang, Sept. 2.—Official reports at headquarters here today were that a dropping rifle fire was being kept up between the Chekiang and Fukien outposts on either side of the ruins of bridge No. 34, about eight miles from Sungkiang. Other than this, I was told at headquarters, there was nothing doing.

But—

Unofficial reports from several cources differed from the official one. And I was forced to give these stories more attention than I would in ordinary circumstances because of the absolute refusal by those in authority to let me go closer to the front "because of the great danger today." They follow for what they may be worth.

Railwaymen state that as soon as a military train approaches bridge No. 31, the limit of its run, it is the target of a heavy rifle fire. We can discount the "heavy" as coming from men who are not yet accustomed to being under fire. But the fact of the fire remains. Bridge No. 31 is two and a half to three miles this side of bridge No. 34, where the local army headquarters says its front line is. The distance would seem a bit long for any number of stray bullets, to say nothing of a concentrated fire on a train. Incidentally, the engines push up the cars ahead of them for protection.

FUKIEN ADVANCE

Refugees said that last night Fukien soldiers entered a town twelve li, four miles, south of Sungkiang. As well as I could pin them down, the town is Tachiang, at the juncture of the two big creeks which flow under bridges 33 and 34 and as one stream enter the Whangpoo.

The village is well back of the line which military headquarters has pointed out as the front. This report, in conjunction with that of the railwaymen, makes one suspect a withdrawal by the Chekiang men.

Another factor of possible great importance within the next few days is the poor morale of the Chekiang troops on this sector. Some of the men are quite frank in saying that unless they are reinforced a week is the limit of the period for which they could hold back the Fukienese. This despite the fact that the figures given me yesterday seem fairly accurate, that Chekiang has about 5,000 men and Fukien 3,000 along this sector.

I was told today that so far as the Chekiang leaders know they are opposed only by Fukienese without any contingents of Anhui troops or some of the Kiangsu men who were formerly on the Ishing front. General Sun is known to have brought between 4,000 and 5,000 men with him on the long journey into Chekiang. Some of these men were sent to Hangchow and it is reasonable to believe that others are guarding the line of communications and supply.

MINORITY ATTACK?

In such circumstances it seems a bit surprising to find a general expectation of a Fukien attack before the southerners are strengthened by Anhui or Kiangsu men and even more surprising to hear the opinion of the soldiers given above.

Sungkiang is steadily losing its population. Perhaps a thousand people left here for Shanghai today, of whom several hundred had come here earlier in the day with empty baskets, boxes and suitcases which were filled with home and store articles to be added to those carried to the city.

Although two machine guns were sent up to Nanziang from Shanghai yesterday, sixteen cases of hand gremades were sent back from that supply depot and sent down the Hangchow railway line. So the Fukien men may advance altogether without warmth of welcome.

DEPARTURE OF MAJ. ZANNI SET FOR TOMORROW

Argentinian World Flyer Will Probably Hop Off For Japan In Morning

Major Pedro L. Zanni, Argentinian round-the-world aviator, will in all probability not leave Shanghai for Japan until tomorrow morning. Major Zanni had hoped to be able to hop off for Kagoshima early today, but in view of necessary repairs to his plane, it is quite likely that he will be unable to do so until tomorrow.

Major Zanni's mechanician, Senor Felipe Beltrame, spent the greater part of yesterday in going over the engine of the plane, the Provincial do Buenos Aires, where it is anchored at Black Point, near the Standard Oil installation, inasmuch as Shanghai is Major Zanni's last supply base before attempting the long fight across the Pacific.

Major Zanni and Mr. Y. del Carril, Argentine representative in Shanghai, were the guests of honor at yesterday's tiffin at the Shanghai Rotary Club at the Astor House. Major Zanni spoke briefly, describing his experiences on his journey through the air from Amsterdam. Later, Major Zanni paid an official call at the Bureau for Foreign Affairs.

Last night, a reception was given in Major Zanni's honor by Mr. A. S. P. Brandao, the new Chilean consul-general here, and a tiffin and dinner have been arranged in his honor today by the Chilean and Spanish Consuls.

GENEVA'S LABOR OFFICE DESCRIBED BY M. P. HENRY

Zanni Brings Greetings From Buenos Aires To Local Rotary Club

The history and development of the International Labor Office of the League of Nations and its function were described in an interesting speech delivered by M. Pierre Henri, representative of the International Labor Office, yesterday before the weekly meeting of the Shanghai Rotary Club.

Major Zanni, the Argentine world flier, accompanied by the Consul from Argentine, Mr. dal Carril, was present and brought the greetings of the Rotary Club of Buenos Aires. Mr. Carril pointed out the poor conditions under which the world flier had to make his historical flight and the lack of protection which Major Zanni needed on the way.

After thanking the Club for its courtesy and paying a glowing tribute to his fellow guest, Major Zanni, for the hardship which was followed by the world with interest, sympathy and anxiety, M. Henri said that the movement for the improvement of labor conditions was an old one, although his office had been only in existence for four years as a result of the Versailles Treaty. It was almost as old as the invention of machinery. Owen, the Englishman, was the first man to advocate the formation of an international organisation for labor.

The first labor conference was held in Berlin in the early 80's, but accomplished very little. In 1897, a great gathering of professors, employers and employees met at Zurich and formulated plans for the organisation for labor legislation. In 1913 at Berne, a preliminary conference on labor was held to make plans for a big conference in the following year but its efforts were wasted on account of the world war.

During the war, despite the adverse conditions, various parliaments discussed the labor questions and in 1916-1917, a movement was actually started in Stockholm to create an international labor office. As a result, a special commission was created at the Versailles Conference to study into the matter. The special commission sought to have a "super-state" power to go over the sovereignty of nations. This was never considered practical and the office was created without such a power.

In 1919, the first labor conference was held in Washington. The work of the office and regulations which the nations were called upon to observe were regulated. Among others, the conference passed resolutions:

1—On the 8-hour day rule.

2—On the protection of women and children employed by factories.

3—On night work by women and children.

4—On the age limit of child labor.

5—On the equality of foreign workers.

6—On the inspection of works.

7—On wages.

The speaker then showed how the minds of the various nations changed after the conference and how the ideas of the conference were handicaped by local conditions. Although the main points were solved, different countries modified the rules laid down to suit their own needs.

In 1920, there was a conference for seamen to apply the principles laid down by the Peace Treaty of Versailles. At that time, great hesitancy was expressed concerning the eight-hour law.

Although the work of the labor office was provided for in part 13 of the Peace Treaty, there was constant fear of a super-Parliament which the International Labor Office might become. Ratifications from the nations of the world had been slow, but Mr. Henri was confident that eventually all the bigger Powers would sanction the rules, which had already received encouraging endorsements.

LULL ON FRONT UNBROKEN; KIANGSU SHORT OF SUPPLY, REPORT TO LUNGHUA SAYS

Another Skirmish In Shihhutang Is Reported; Marshals Chang Tso-lin And Lu Yung-hsiang Urge Foreign Powers Not To Help Peking Financially; Chekiang Claims Victory In Kiating

The lull on all fronts in the Kiangsu-Chekiang war which began on Wednesday remained unbroken yesterday. Save a minor skirmish in the Sungkiang sector and the occupation of Kolung village on the Kating front, there was little fighting.

The Sunkiang clash took place in the afternoon when Sun Chuan-fan's forces fired off several volleys of machine gun and rifle shots in the direction of Sungkiang from Shihhutang. Chekiang responded. But the firing was merely sporadic. Evidently neither side was prepared for any serious business.

A Nanziang telephone message received at Lunghua yesterday afternoon reported that the Chekiang forces repelled another Kiangsu attack on Kiating and occupied Kolung yesterday morning. Kolung is about 18 li from Kiating and is on the main road which connects it with Taitsang. A large number of the routed were disarmed, the report said.

Kiangsu's shortage of ammunition was the cause of yesterday's tranquility, according to officials at Lunghua headquarters. The arsenals under Chihli control have been literally drained to supply Wu Pei-fu in his Manchurian campaign; and repeatedly requests from Nanking have been ignored, it was pointed out.

Under date of September 30, General Lu Yung-hsiang and Marshal Chang Tso-lin issued a manifesto to the Diplomatic Corps in Peking, urging the latter not to lend any financial assistance to the Peking Government. The text was translated into English by the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs at Mukden, Mr. Chung Shih-ming, and forwarded to the Peking envoys through the Consuls at Mukden.

A translation of the manifesto follows:

"Fengtien and Chekiang are fighting against an illegal government whose president was elected through bribery. We are supported by the people and our campaigns have been victorious wherever they are conducted. We trust that the foreign ministers are quite aware of the fact that our action has been endorsed by the general populace.

"It is reported that the Peking Government is pledging a certain railway for a loan from a certain country and is requesting the Powers interested in our salt and customs surpluses, to give it permission to issue bonds secured by these surpluses. These proposed funds are for the purpose of military expenses which are to be used to resist Fengtien and Chekiang against the will of the people.

"We trust that the several Powers will recognise the will of the Chinese people and reject any and all proposals made by Peking to raise funds.

"Any contract concluded after the outbreak of the Kiangsu-Chekiang war between the Peking Government and foreign Powers for loan or loans will be repudiated by the people and will not be recognised by the new Government."

PRECAUTION TAKEN AGAINST ARSON

General Ho Feng-lin yesterday issued an order for the adoption of precautionary measures against the action of spies in setting fire to houses in Shanghai, Woosung, Liuho and Nanziang in order to attract the artillery fire from the Kiangsu side. The statements drawn from Kiangsu secret service men recently captured in Liuho showed that Kiangsu authorities have employed a large number of desperadoes to set fire in these cities while two letters found by the official censors at the Post Office confirmed the statements. It is understood that copies of the order are being forwarded to the Settlement authorities for reference.

The Kuo Wen News Agency reports that the Kiangsu headquarters have been removed from Quinsan to Soochow as a result of the shortage of ammunition on the fighting front. Residents in Soochow, Wusih, Changchow and Chinkiang are panic-stricken. The Japanese residents have appealed to the local Consul-General for more Japanese warships to be sent to Chinkiang to protect them, and a cruiser was sent there yesterday.

LIBERALS MASS FOR BATTLE TO UNSEAT LABOR

Critical Attitude Displayed Against Government At Party Meeting

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—Liberal Members of Parliament displayed a critical attitude towards the Government at a party meeting presided over by Mr. Asquith today, when the Campbell prosecution incident and the question of the Anglo-Russian Treaty were discussed at length.

Mr. Asquith indicated that if a vote of censure were tabled in the former case it ought to receive the support of the Liberals on the strength of the explanation given yesterday.

It was further agreed that Mr. Asquith should table a motion in Parliament expressing readiness to support practical and business-like steps to improve Anglo-Russian trade relations but opposing the Treaty in its present proposed form on financial and other grounds.

The Conservatives later tabled a Parliamentary motion of censure relating to the institution and withdrawal of the prosecution against Mr. Campbell (the editor of the Workers' Weekly, for alleged incitement of the fighting forces to disobey orders).

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—Ominous clouds are now gathering on the political sky, and papers are forecasting a general election in the near future as a result of latest developments.

There is much talk of the possibility of the Government resigning next week, if the vote of censure tabled by the Conservatives yesterday in connection with the Campbell case is carried with the help of the Liberals, who are advised by Mr. Asquith to support the motion if "reasonable."

The greatest danger to the continued existence of the Government, however, arises from the action of the Liberal Party tabling a reasoned motion for the rejection of the Russian Treaty owing to the guaranteed loan proposal.

It is still possible, though unlikely, that the Government will modify its policy with regard to the Treaty in order to conciliate the Liberals, but the rejection of the Treaty in early November, if the Government survive till then, is now considered by most people a foregone conclusion, and it is difficult to see how an appeal to the country is avoidable in the event of rejection.

"Even if the Chihli faction could come out victorious sectionally, it cannot but end in self-destruction after all. What will come after the fall of the Chihli faction is the unification of the whole country based on provincial autonomy."

"I take the side of neither the Chihli faction nor anti-Chihli factions but remain absolutely neutral. The fact, however, that those, who come into power by force of arms, will in the long run be overthrown also by force of arms may be testified to by many examples near at hand of modern China rather than by the old history of this country. No matter how powerful the Chihli faction may be, it is impossible for the faction to free itself from ruin. The new Government, which will be brought into existence in future, should carry out its administration in compliance with the wishes and will of the people. Provincial Assemblies are at present the only organ that represents the real voice of the people."

ROBBERY COMMON IN CHANGSHU; TWO SHOT

(China Press Correspondence)

Changshu, Ku., Sept. 26.—Two prisoners incarcerated last winter for armed robbery in the country and sentenced to death, but whose sentence was not executed, were shot two or three days ago in hopes that it would help stop the robbing that is rather more common than usual in the country.

The business situation in the city is brighter, but it is said that the Government schools will have to close for this year because of lack of funds.

In order to stop petty thieving in the city all the beggars are taken to one of the temples every night where they are kept under guard.

Three thieves were caught today and were taken to the police station at the South Gate for preliminary trial.

The regular launch service with Soochow has not been resumed but the banks and business firms have started a launch that makes the return trip to Soochow each day. The fare is such as will keep down the number of passengers. Slow boats also go each day to or from Soochow.

Fresh fruits, matches, cigarettes, flour and kerosene have been rather short, but a considerable quantity of flour and kerosene were received recently and native persimmons and pears are now to be had. Rice is plentiful at $8.50 a picul with the probable reduction in price as new rice comes in.

CHEKIANG HELP TO NEW RULER HALF-HEARTED

Forces Are Dispatched But Murmurings Of Revolt Are Heard

(China Press Correspondence)

Hangchow, Sept. 30.—A large section of the Chekiang Second Division with six pieces of heavy artillery was dispatched this morning to the Kashing front. These troops and guns, added to the Fukien soldiers who have gone to Kashing in the last few days gives a respectable addition to the forces of General Sun Chuan-fang now preparing to attack General Lu's rear. And in addition to the regular soldiers, a carload of police from Hangchow has also been sent to Kashing presumably for preserving order behind the lines.

This is all to the advantage of the Kiangsu side of the present war, but there are murmurings from the South which may bring trouble for General Sun later on. There is no doubt of the half heartedness of the support which the Chekiang people are giving to their newly appointed military chieftain. It is persistently reported here that Wenchow, Ningpo, Chuchi and Shaoshing are in preparation for open revolt against his standards. In their hearts here the people have not given him a welcome, although circumstances have forced them to speak words of welcome with their lips.

General Lu Yung-hsiang was and is held in high regard by the people, and if fortune turns, and he is able to fight his way back, he will be welcomed. The soldiers from Fukien are a new and most untried element in comparison with the well kept, orderly ones of General Lu. Their attitude on the streets is noticeably different. Little brawls and street disputes remind the people that a new and not a better day has come in the city. There is hope that precedent will not be without its influence on the new comers but if comparison does not make them odius, it at least secures them a doubtful welcome.

R. CANAVARRO AND J.L. WADE WINNERS OF SEMI - FINALS

Will Meet Saturday In Final Match For Singles Championship

In the semi-finals of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Singles' Championship yesterday R. Canavarro and J. L. Wade each won three straight sets from their opponents, L. Goldman and P. H. Klimanek respectively, and will meet next Saturday in the final match for the title here.

The more interesting match yesterday was that between Canavarro and Goldman, they being more closely contested than the other. Goldman put up a very creditable game, and both the first and third sets were pretty even. The first set was won by Canavarro by a 6-4 score. Both his serving and his speed was superior, while Goldman's strong drives, while sometimes effective, frequently worked against the player. There were some very pretty flashes of good volleying in this set.

The second set was rather easy for the older man. Goldman seemed to have rather lost himself, and Canavarro took the set by six games to his opponent's two. In the third set, however, Goldman came back strong, and fought it out stubbornly to the end. His game is noticeably improving, and if he continues the same development he will be a formidable contender soon.

WADE BEATS KLIMANEK

The game between Wade and Klimanek was rather one-sided. The veteran showed all his brilliant work in every aspect of the game, and Klimanek had hardly a chance at any time. He put up a good game, but was simply outplayed. He worked hard, however, did some very fair serving, and deserves credit for his game.

In the first set Wade never gave Klimanek a chance, taking all six games for a score of six-love. In the second set, however, the veteran let up a little, and Klimanek took two games to Wade's six. Throughout the match Wade's playing was characterised by his well-placed lobs, putting the ball about where he pleased, and Klimanek was helpless against him.

In the third set Wade took the first five games in order, then went a little easier, Klimanek took three games in succession, showing a fair amount of speed and cleverness. Wade then took the final game, winning the set by a 6—4 score.

The finals for the Singles Championship, between Wade and Carnavarro, will be played off Saturday afternoon. The Roper Cup match will be played about the same time, so the English side will be represented by another team than Wade and Mansel-Smith, which was reported yesterday.

"Faust"

Last night the Italian Opera Company selected "Faust" from its extensive repertoire for performance.

Mr. Emanule Giletta as Faust sang exceedingly well and gave a really fine performance which, alone, was the redeeming feature of a very weak cast.

Marguerite, taken by Mdlle. Castantini, was disappointing and her singing possessed little power or charm, though her finale in the fifth act seemed to improve greatly. Carlo Milocchi, as Mephistopheles, was not at all up to my expectations, and in spite of his fine singing in parts, the bulk of his work was poor; a characteristic that seemed to be a feature of the evening.

The opera was unusually abridged, and Valentine's death aria, which averages ten minutes, was cramped and dependent on the support of the other performers rather than itself.

"The Soldier's Chorus," which is usually such a predominating part of the opera, was lamentably staccatto and did not reach the heights that is always expected of this song.

"The Flower Song," so dainty a piece, sung by Siebel, taken by Mdlle. Aida Ballarini, was very poor indeed and I was sadly disappointed when I had expected all the fresh beauty of "Le Parlate D'Amour."

The orchestra deserves fullest praise for its work and Signor Costagnino especially for his conduction of a remarkable good collection of instruments. The orchestra was one of the redeeming features of the opera and certainly corrected many of the mistakes of the actors.

Favacho Knocks Out Young Volaire At The Carlton

Bobby Favacho showed his stuff last night when he knocked out Young Volaire in the tenth round of a hard-fought contest at the Carlton. Favacho scored a couple of knockdowns earlier in the fight, but the finish came in the tenth, with about one minute to go, when Bobby landed a right to Volaire's stomach which put the lighter boy down for a bit more than the count.

Favacho went into the fight a shade over twenty pounds to the good, the boys weighing in at 150 and 130 pounds respectively. From the moment the fight started it was evident that both boys were out for blood. Favacho used his height and reach to the utmost, jabbing Volaire several times without a come-back. Volaire got in a couple of times and landed well, but Bobby had the best of it.

This continued through most of the fight. In the second Bobby landed a right hook to the face which knocked Volaire off his feet, but the other boy got up without waiting for the count and went to it again. Bobby landed his left to the face again and again. In the third the fighting was a little easier than in the previous rounds, and Favacho began leaning on the other boy from time to time. The same was true of the fourth. In the fighting Volaire succeeded in landing some good body blows, and these two rounds were fairly even.

In the fifth hard scrapping started again. Bobby landed several times, both straight lefts and right swings, and seemed to have Volaire groggy at one time, but the other boy came back with some good body blows. In the sixth Bobby continued to feed the other boy straight jabs and right swings, Volaire coming back occasionally. The seventh round started with both boys landing some good body punches to which Bobby responded with a second knockdown Volaire plunged in again like a wildcat and Bobby landed one lucky wallop. Favacho did some fighting on the other boy, however.

The eighth started off with Volaire taking the aggressive. Bobby covered up and let Volaire hammer him on the head and arms for a while, after which Volaire landed a good right wallop which colored Bobby's eye a lovely shade of blue-black. Bobby responded to this, however, with both rights and lefts.

In the minth Bobby continued his jabs and swings. Volaire came back and landed some good wallops in the bread basket. Bobby got the lighter boy back against the ropes, but couldn't do much. The crepe on Bobby's eye continued to grow.

In the tenth round Favacho landed again Volaire returning it. Nothing less than a minute's fighting Bobby landed a crashing right to the stomach which doubled up the other boy and laid him out on the floor. Volaire was quite conscious, but incapable of getting up, and after the fatal ten had been counted Favacho picked up his erstwhile opponent and carried him over to his corner. Volaire put up a splendid fight, in spite of his handicap in size.

FLORES DRAWS WITH FORRAL

In the semi-final Felipe Flores fought Benny Forral eight hard rounds to a draw decision, Benny, with his natural cleverness, landed more frequently than the other boy, but Felipe put up a fine battle, and pretty well earned the draw verdict.

Flores weighed in three pounds over Forral, the weights being 123 and 120 respectively. Both boys went to it hot and heavy from the start, and landed good wallops. Flores got in some good punches in the second, and both landed hard in the third, to the face and to the body. Flores had a shade of of these early rounds, landing more heavy wallops than the other boy.

The fourth started off much the same, but real fireworks came towards the end of the round, when the boys began to swap wallops, going to it like a couple of wildmen. There was a slight dull in the battle in the fifth, but in the sixth they again mixed it up, and once more in the seventh. Forral had the margin in these rounds.

The final round showed some hard mixing, but pretty even. There was some uncertainty about the verdict, but Messrs. Roger and Hancock, judges, decided to call it a draw.

Mr. McCoy referred both these

GONZALO KAYOES SUZARA

A second event also was a kayo. Young Gonzalo was matched with Suzara, the boys weighing in at 134 and 127 rounds respectively. In the first round both boys landed, Suzara the more frequently, but without doing any real damage. Suzara tapped the bigger boy in the face again and again, but not hard, and seemed to be rather weak. His punches lacked steam, and he went through the ropes a couple of times on blows which were far from kayos.

The second round was not far gone when Gonzalo landed hard on the other boy. A vicious left, followed by a right swing, caught Suzara on the jaw and stretched him out on the floor, a clean kayo. He never heard the referee count over him.

The curtain-raiser was also a hard-fought affair, and much above the usual run of openers. Fighting Fernan met Frisco Peralto in this and the two youngsters went to it hot and heavy for six rounds. There was some hugging and wrestling, but the boys put up a real battle, slugging and swapping punches to the best of their ability. There was so much of this Kilkenny stuff in the first couple of acts that the youngsters were pretty tired towards the finish, which accounts for a certain amount of clinching. It was a fight worth seeing.

Mr. King was referee in the two opening fights.

Before the final bout a couple of exhibitions of rope-skipping and muscular control were given by two bantams, Alberto and Valli, who recently arrived from Manila. Pete Alberto was first on the program.

Pete is a physical culturist, and is splendidly developed. He showed yesterday some breathing exercises, expanding the chest, also showed some exercises in muscle-tensing, which was very pretty. He has remarkable muscular control, and a special kind of control over his shoulders and shoulder-blades as well. After his physical culture exhibition Aiberto showed how Chaplin should skip rope, and negotiated the difficult stunt with his feet flat and his toes pointing outward.

Clever Valli gave a rope-skipping show. This lad skipped forward and backward, with hands straight or creased, to the right or left, did everything but turn handsprings through the rope, and came pretty close to doing that. His exhibition was keenly appreciated by the crowd.

These two youngsters will probably be on next week's program. Their boxing is just as good as their other work, and it should be very much worth while seeing them.

"AMONG THOSE PRESENT"

In the interval Matty Smith, who has not been seen in the ring here for some time, was presented to the crowd. This clever lightweight, who packs a punch which can kayo some of the huskiest boys here, is due to fight on October 16, two weeks hence. Welcome back, Matty! Everyone will be glad to see you again.

Billy Tingle, the holder of the bantam title here, was also present last night, after a prolonged absence from the Carlton. Billy says he's feeling good again, and in excellent shape for scrapping. It was good to see this popular Australian on the Roof Garden last night. Much has been said about him owing to his disappearance after the fight with Canion, but it is understood Billy has a good explanation to make, and we will be glad to see him in action again.

WALKING MATCH HERE DECIDED ON FOR NOVEMBER 23

Same Course As Last Year; American Team Now Called For

A large and enthusiastic gathering assembled at Shephard's Hotel last evening to make preparations for the International Walking Match next month. The walk is to be held on November 23, and over the same course as last year, a little over sixteen miles in length. This year's match appears to be calling out even greater interest than that of last December, when more than sixty walkers entered, and crowds of thousands thronged the streets along which the walkers came.

In opening yesterday's meeting, Mr. Tilley referred to the great success of last year's match. He mentioned the lack of an American team, and expressed the hope that Americans will put their shoulders to the wheel and enter a team in this year's race. They were very much indebted to the American Troop for the assistance they gave in the walk last year.

Concluding, Mr. Tilley proposed Dr. O'Hara as Chairman, and the latter was elected by acclamation. The financial report was then read, showing an income of $1,152 and disbursements of $1,236.36 for last year, leaving a debit of $84.36. The main item in the disbursements was for prizes, $925 having been spent. It was added that a great deal of gratuitous assistance had been given by the Shanghai Race Club, for which all interested in the match were very grateful. The accounts were passed by the meeting.

Mr. N. Webb proposed Mr. Gerrard as Hon. Secretary this year, and referred to his excellent work last year. This motion was seconded and passed. Mr. E. Linde was re-elected Asst. Hon. Secretary.

Dr. O'Hara was proposed again as President this year. The nominee suggested the advisability of electing a new President each year, and proposed Dr. Fresson for this year, withdrawing in his favor. Dr. Fresson was accordingly elected, subject to his acceptance as he has not yet returned to Shanghai. Dr. O'Hara and Mr. Wilkinson were elected Vice-Presidents.

With regard to the post of Hon. Treasurer, it was proposed that the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Gerrard, fill this also. The motion was carried.

In connection with the election of committees, the names of last year's committeeman were read out. The committees are as follows: Finance, prizes, etc.; Route, etc.; Traffic, etc.; Grand Stand and Refreshments. It was proposed that the selection of committees be left to the President, Vice-Presidents, and Secretary, and this motion was adopted. The names of Mr. Guterres, Mr. White, and Mr. Ikeda were brought forth as committeemen.

Mr. W. G. Pirie, it was decided, was to be asked to act again as starter and time-keeper. Messrs. Furkiil, Merriman, and Clark were proposed as judges, and the first two were decided on.

The lengthening of the course was proposed by Mr. M. Webb, winner of last year's race, who suggested that it start from the Bund and be eighteen miles, as in earlier days. Mr. Wilkinson opposed this, suggesting that last year's course was sufficiently long, as the race was not intended as an exhaustion test. It was decided to take a vote of the actual walkers present, and this resulted in a majority for the course as walked last year, 16 miles 227 yards in length.

It was proposed by Mr. S. Webb that the position of the racers along the course be communicated to the Race Course by radio, advising the crowd there by megaphone. Mr. Puddicombe was asked to express himself on the subject, and said that he saw no reason why this should not be done if sufficient portable radio sets could be got together. Probably several weeks would be required, but there would be this much time before the match. The matter would have to be submitted to the members of the Radio Association, which would do everything at their own expense if they found the plan feasible.

Regarding the date of the race, it was proposed that it be held on November 23. This motion was passed without discussion.

The big attendance yesterday included eight nationalities, with English, French, American, Irish, Scotch, Portuguese, Japanese, and Australians present. A special appeal was made for an American team, and Mr. Greenberg, responding, said he would do his part to get one together. There were some Americans here who had done some walking, and a team should be possible.

A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. O'Hara for his services.

The race is therefore definitely arranged, for Sunday, November 23. Entries close the previous Monday, November 17, and may be made with Mr. W. L. Gerrard, Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, care of Messrs. Duncan and Co., 32 Avenue Edward VII.

News Brevities

The supply of gold in Great Britain has recently been increased by something in the neighborhood of seven million pounds sterling salved from the wreck of the steamer "Laurentic," sunk in the neighborhood of Belfast during the European war. The divers found about a million sterling of gold in the forward hold which had been overlooked. The divers state that they had to battle with huge dog fish while removing the treasure. In addition to the gold a large quantity of jewels were reclaimed from the skeletons of passengers.

An interesting meeting of the Moral Welfare League was held on Wednesday evening, when a review of the work of the past nine months was given, and plans for the future were discussed. Much regret was expressed that the Mixed Court Home has had to be closed for lack of funds. Friends and critics alike have expressed appreciation of this constructive effort, and yet appeals failed to secure the necessary income to keep it going. The general funds of the League have not kept up to requirements, and some things which ought to be done are delayed for lack of funds. Reference was made to certain notorious houses kept by foreigners which continue their business apparently in defiance of law and of the police. If Chinese houses are allowed to do the same, a very undesirable situation will result, while if not so permitted the inconsistency will soon be pointed out with detriment to the foreign reputation for fair dealing. It is proposed to continue the policy of educating by means of pamphlets, and if possible by debates on aspects of the problems which are of general interest. The improvement in our street conditions is felt to be gratifying. It is realised that vice problems cannot be solved hastily but must be expected to take considerable time. The League is prepared to work patiently for gradual improvement, giving its aid to other agencies with similar aims, and it is hoped that more public support will be given to enable it to continue its useful service.

JAPAN WILL NOT TAKE HAND HERE SAYS SHIDEHARA

Foreign Minister Reaffirms Nipponese Policy Of Non-Intervention

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 2.—Interviewed by party representatives, Baron Shidehara, the Foreign Minister, reiterated the Government's declared policy vis-a-vis China, asserting that Japan had no other course in view of her agreement with the other Powers but absolutely to refrain from intervention as she expected the other Powers to refrain.

The Minister stated that non-intervention did not mean neglect of Japan's vital interests in Manchuria and Mongolia, which, he declared, the Government was closely watching.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Oct. 1.—Interviewed today by press representatives with reference to Japan's standpoint vis-a-vis the situation of war in China, Mr. Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister, stated as follows:

"Of the people of Japan, there are some, who are in sympathy with the Chihli faction and some, who are sympathetic towards the Fengtien faction, but their sympathy comes merely from their individual points of view.

"The Imperial Government of Japan, however, deeming it absolutely necessary to form its observation from the national standpoint, is adhering to its strictly neutral attitude towards the domestic disturbances in this country.

"In the present most complicated circumstances, so far as the state of affairs in China is concerned, some Japanese may perhaps give facilities sometimes to the Chihli faction and sometimes the Fengtien faction in some way or other, but this cannot be helped.

"As a matter of course, Japan, in principle, is maintaining strict neutrality, but it must be remembered that she has very important rights and interests in Manchuria which are greatly different from those she has in other parts of this country. This is the point, which, I hope, will be fully kept in mind by both Chinese and the people of all the foreign Powers.

"Now that Marshal Chang Tso-lin's forces have been dispatched to the fronts, the defences in the interior of Manchuria have become very slight, resulting in two or three mounted-bandit cases and thus presenting a condition similar to that which was brought about a few years ago when the Toutaokou and Hunchun affairs occurred. Indeed, this is what the Japanese Government is anxious about.

"Taking into consideration the fact that Marshal Wu Pei-fu will shortly proceed to the front, it may be inferred that the main stage of fighting between the belligerent forces will be entered upon at no distant date.

"It is to be expected that a practical issue regarding Japan's special relations with China will arise after the entry of the Chihli troops into Manchuria. It is for this reason that Japan is attaching much importance to the development of the situation of war in this country.

"Should the Fengtien troops be defeated and in the event of the Chihli troops entering Manchuria after their long pursuit, such an issue as referred to above will undoubtedly be brought about.

"On the contrary, if the Fengtien troops should come out victorious in the sector of Shanhaikuan, it is impossible that there will arise such a question as to whether or not Japan's rights and interests in Manchuria will be affected. At any rate, considerable care is required as to the result of the decisive battle which is expected to take place at no distant date possibly in the sector of Shanhaikwan."

Arrangements For German Loan Are Being Undertaken

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—The preliminaries of the German loan undertaken in conjunction by the Bank of England and leading American bankers are so advanced that the loan probably will be floated simultaneously throughout the world in a few weeks. The American share has been fixed at $100,000,000. The remainder will be issued in European countries in sterling. The apportionment of the various countries has not yet been decided. The British quota probably will be in the region of £10,000,000 to £15,000,000.

Britain Will Pay Canada Emigrants

(Reuter's American Service)

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—The British Government will pay nearly $5,000,000 to equip and transport 3,000 British families to Canada for settlement here, according to a new immigration agreement signed in London. The settlers are expected to repay the money during a period of 25 years. The first immigrants will arrive next month.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 1.—During the Assembly debate on the disarmament protocol today, Viscount Ishii alluded to the important work accomplished in the framing of the protocol, in the course of which, he said, the Japanese delegation had had to express their opinion very frankly but they had always been animated by a feeling of conciliation. "Our anxiety" he affirmed, "only concerned a juridical point. The Japanese delegation entirely approve the draft convention."

Sungkiang Prepares For Kiangsu Attack

(China Press Correspondence)

Sungkiang, September 30.—Everything has been quite peaceful here today save the noise made by coolies carrying baggage to the railway station and the knocking at doors of closed houses, whose owners had gone away. There has still been some impressing of coolies. Also another airplane flew over us this morning and the boom of some cannon has reached our ears.

I heard some news today that explains the wounded soldiers I saw yesterday. Some spies or scouts from both parties were roaming about in the countryside and met each other. The result was that these two men were wounded. I have not heard of any result on the other side.

With two such rivers to cross as those over which bridge Nos. 31 and 34 pass and fortified as they doubtless are, I feel that it will take a much greater force for Sun Chuan-fang to fight his way to Sungkiang than he can raise in view of the necessity of his being prepared in Chekiang to hold his position there. I hear that they have two large cannon at bridge No. 31. These and the large number of soldiers that they have sent out west and the amount of entrenching that they have been doing makes me feel that we will not be run out of here at an early date.

I was at Gen Wang Ping's yamen the other day and he had the electricians doing a good bit of work fixing up electric lights, so it does not look as if he thought he would have to leave at any near time. The amount of foodstuff being shipped in looks as though the soldiers would not have to live on short rations.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock & Co. state in their coal market report:

Japan Coal:—In spite of the fighting having continued round Shanghai during the past fortnight, our local market has been a little more active than usual and there has been a certain amount of enquiry going on amongst native dealers for second and third class lump coals for local consumption, a certain amount of business has been done already and negotiations are still proceeding.—this state of affairs has probably been brought about by the favorable rate of exchange now ruling and the threatened shortage of Kaiping coal owing to hostilities having commenced in North China.

Fushun Coal:—Deliveries have been very good, probably for the same reasons as stated above.

Fuchung Anthracite:—Stocks short, market firm, prices advancing.

Kaiping Coal:—Owing to the continuation of hostilities, conditions remain generally as reported on September 18. No shipments up-country are possible, deliveries being confined to the Settlement.

Stock have been slightly increased by receipt of shipments from Chinwangtao.

Exchange Circular

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon & Brand state in their exchange circular for the week ending October 1: Since the date of our last circular an advance of ¼d. has to be recorded in the London price of bar silver. The spot and forward quotations being identical, namely, 35 3-16d. New York silver prices have fluctuated between 69¾ and 70⅛, the latter quotation being the last received.

The official opening quotation for T/T have risen from 3-4¼d. to 3-4⅝d. and 75 to 75¾, on London and New York respectively. However, contracts have actually been completed as high as 3-5⅛ and 77⅛. The market today closes steady.

Sales of gold currencies by local operators, and covering transactions by banks, have, in the main, contributed to the firmness which has been so noticeable throughout the week. Business conditions continue to be most unsatisfactory and no improvement can be looked for until a more peaceful situation is again established.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:—

Sycee and bar silver ..... Tls. 48,021,000 an increase of Tls. 539,000.

Chinese and Mexican dollar .... $ 49,730,000 a decrease of $ 640,000.

Silver yen ..... Yen. 800,000.

Estimated value Tls. 83,729,000 as against Tls. 53,762,000 held at this time last year.

Ballet Scores Hit In New Performance At Del Monte Cafe

If we remember rightly, it was the Del Monte which first introduced the real cabaret entertainment into Shanghai, with results which spoke well for the foresight of the management. Under the leadership of Mr. Damaradsky the Del Monte introduced the first ballet which gave many evenings' enjoyment, and now, repeating the scheme, Mr. A. Israel has entrusted Mr. Damaradsky with the task of bringing together another collection of dancers and singers. Wednesday night was the opening, but tomorrow patrons will see the new ballet with its full complement. Unfortunately an accident prevented the premiere ballerina and her partner from appearing on Wednesday, but the rest of the company secured an enthusiastic reception from a very good house. The full company appeared in three separate numbers, a gypsy chorus, an Italian dance and a classic dance in all three of which they were encored by an extremely satisfied house. The ballet master has succeeded in securing a troupe of very fine dancers who are dressed well and dance in perfect keeping with the costumes designed for them.

Among the signers Miss Ardy has a delightful soprano voice which she uses excellently, not only in solo numbers, but as the lead in the gypsy choruses, while Miss Sourikoff is particularly fine in the vivacious songs she has selected from her extensive repertoire; both these artistes have plenty of personality and do much to make the ensemble numbers go with that degree of swing which has a telling effect upon the hearers. Mme. Blanche de Bonita, is a comedienne of exceptional ability. Despite the fact that she sings in a language not known perhaps by most of those present, her comedy business is such that never fails to make the points she has in mind, with the result that every appearance she has made at the Del Monte has been eminently successful.

But it is the dancing which makes the show and, when the premiere ballerina and her partner, and the two other danseuses who are promised for Saturday night appear, Al Israel will have a company of which he has every right to be proud, and which will worthily continue the traditions of the former ballet which proved such an attraction at the Del Monte.

SURE VICTORY FOR KIANGSU IS OFFICIAL'S VIEW

Destruction Of Arsenal Is All Arranged By General Ho Feng-lin, Claim

It is only a question of time until the war will be ended in favor of Nanking, says a communication received yesterday from a high official of the Kiangsu Government.

"Just at present," he writes, "the most important thing for the people of Shanghai is to take a close watch on the actions of General Ho Feng-lin. It is confirmed that numerous boxes of oil have been stored for use in burning down of the Arsenal and the Shanghai City at the time of their departure. The Shanghai people must bear in mind that it is their duty to prevent anything destructive on the one hand and to maintain peace and order on the other."

The letter states that an agreement has been reached by the diplomatic body in Peking, at the instance of the Dutch Legation, to urge disarmament of the forces of General Lu and Marshal Ho in the vicinity of Shanghai. This movement has been assisted by the British and American Ministers, the letter states, and the Diplomatic Body is now awaiting a reply from General Lu.

Here Is Evidence From Negri Sembilan

The fame of Baby's Own Tablets—the Canadian remedy for infants and little children—spreads apace and parents living in remote parts of the world, far from the help of medical experts and city hospitals, find them of especial value as a corrective for their little ones' every day ailments.

Here is what Mr. E. de Costa, of the Land Office, Kuala Pilah, Negri Sembilan, says about them:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children for over a year and have found them most satisfactory. I have also given the Tablets to friends for their children with very good results."

Baby's Own Tablets should be kept ready at hand in every home where there are infants and young children, for they correct infantile indigestion, constipation, constipation, colic, 'wind', check diarrhoea and vomiting, expel worms, make teething easy, quiet the nerves and quickly bring restful health-giving sleep in a natural way. They are guaranteed harmless even to the youngest and most delicate babe. Chemists sell them, or post free 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

Sixteen Complete Course In Hangchow Maternity School

(China Press Correspondent)

Hangchow, Sept. 26.—Yesterday there was a very interesting ceremony in the Church Missionary Society Hospital Chapel when sixteen graduates of the Maternity course received their diplomas after three years' study and practice. Mrs. Main distributed the diplomas and gave a short account of the Maternity School, its origin and history. Dr. Main in addressing the graduates congratulated them on their success and advised them to make good use of their knowledge and go forth as life-savers and not as money-makers. I believe that most of the maternity work in this city is done by graduates of the C. M. S. Maternity School. The blessing that these nurses are to the city is very great and ought to be made known more than it is.

Attempt Of Chinese To Swim Ashore In U.S. Proves Failure

(Reuter's American Service)

Gibbstown, N.J., Aug. 25.—Five Chinese seamen jumped overboard early today from the British steamship Melona, anchored off the Du Pont Power Plant at Thompson's Point near here. All were later captured.

The Chinese provided themselves with life preservers before attempting the 250 yard swim to the shore. Members of the Melona's crew, aided by Guards from the Du Pont Plant, found four of the seamen on a road near Billingsport. The fifth man was discovered hiding in a shed at the plant.

Chen's Compromise With Sun Is Now Possible

(Eastern News Agency)
Canton, Oct. 1.—The situation in the district of the East River is getting more strained than ever. The right wing of General Chen Chiung-ming's troops, commanded by General Lin Hu, has captured Chienkuo and is about to bear down upon Tsengcheng, while the center under the command of Generals Yeh Chu and Yang Kun-ju has also carried Mashih and Polo, advancing as far forward as the line from Shuklung to Shektan.

In the meantime, the left wing commanded by General Hung Chao-lin, in co-operation with the people's troops, is now attacking Tungkunhsien. The Governor of the last mentioned town has despatched an urgent telegram to the Civil Governor of Kwangtung, asking him to despatch reinforcements without delay to protect the town.

(Eastern News Agency)
Canton. Oct. 1.—The Eastern News Agency learns from a source that cannot be questioned that the discord among the leading members of General Chen Chiung-ming's faction, more particularly between Generals Chen and Lin Hu, has of late come to assume a serious aspect, with the consequence that General Chen has changed his mind, showing a tendency to approach and effect compromise with Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Furthermore, the good offices of Mr. Hsu Shih-ying, who has come down to the South on a mission of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, and of Messrs. Tan Mo-shin and Shih Ching-yang, who have arrived here all the way from Yunnan as representatives of General Tang Chi-yao, have taken effect. In these circumstances, General Chen will, it is reported, issue a circular telegram, announcing his real attitude towards Dr. Sun in a few days.

CHAPEI RENTS ARE SEIZED BY AGENTS OF HO

Protests Raised Against Levies Against Property In Chinese Territory

Chinese in the immediate vicinity of Shanghai have begun to feel the pinch of war, and it is not at all to their liking, reports in the Chinese press indicate. Acting on orders from General Ho Feng-lin defense commissioner of Shanghai and Sungkiang and second in command to Marshal Lu Yung-hsiang, who is opposing the advance of the Chihli forces in this vicinity, tax collectors, accompanied by members of the Woosung and Shanghai Constabulary, are visiting houses in Chapei and Nantao for the purpose of collecting one month's rent in advance, which is to be used for military purposes. Landlords are to be given war bonds instead of rent.

This collection is said to have yielded $18,000 on Tuesday and $40,000 on Wednesday, all of which money was immediately turned over to General Ho Feng-lin for military purposes.

Objection to the levying on house rents has been raised by foreign owners of property in Chapei and Nantao, particularly, the Catholic Church, which is said to own considerable property in Chapei. The church is said to have instructed its tenants not to pay rent to the military officials and to have asked the French consular officials to make representations in the matter.

Another indication of the stringency in Chekiang circles is found in the announcement that a meeting of the Chinese City Chamber of Commerce was called to consider measures to be adopted in view of the fact that members of the Woosung and Shanghai constabulary had not received their September salaries. After discussion, $10,000 toward the payment of these salaries was pledged at this meeting and other organisations were to be approached with a view to subscribing the remainder. The money thus subscribed is to be considered as a loan.

Prices of rice continue to rise in Shanghai, importations having practically ceased. Good quality rice was quoted yesterday at $20 per picul, but was almost unobtainable. Various charitable organisations are still operating ten depots for the sale of cheap rice, but it is said that their supplies will not hold out longer than ten days.

B. W. A. Notes

The following new members have been elected since the last announcement: Mrs. A. D. Blackburn; Mrs. E. Davies; Miss E. M. Dudgeon; Mrs. H. V. Hawley; Mrs. W. Lyle; Miss E. F. May; Mrs. A. Mollanby; Mrs. C. Mitchell; Mrs. J. C. Molony Mrs. Paul Schweizer, Mrs. E. Sterling.

The thanks of the Association are due to The Jewish Country Club, and to Mrs. J. Snodgrass, Mrs. A. Samson, Mrs. A. J. Stewart, for papers and books given to be forwarded to the Naval Camps at Jessfield and in Great Western Road; also to W. O. H. G. for some packs of cards for the same purpose.

The Executive Committee of the B. W. A. are to be at Home to members and their friends in the new Headquarters in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank Building on Tuesday, October 21. This date had been already appropriated by the Recreation Section for a Dahlia Show, with stalls for jams, woollies and other home produce, as well as various sideshows. The Recreation Committee is, however, co-operating with the Executive Committee in holding their joint entertainment on this date. Members are, therefore, asked to keep October 22 free, and thus help to make this first opportunity of entertaining at the new Headquarters a success.

Chinese Shot On Avenue Edward VII

While Kyi Tsung-zeu was walking along Avenue Edward VII near Shantung Road Wednesday morning, an unknown assailant opened fire on him with two shots, one of which lodged in the man's hip, inflicting a painful but not serious wound. A police constable from the Central Station, who was on duty nearby, heard the shots but saw nothing of Kyi's assailant. Kyi was taken to Shantung Road Hospital, where, it was said, he would probably recover after a convalescence of 15 days. Police are investigating. They believe the shooting to be the outcome of a quarrel among loafers.

Philippines Has First Adverse Trade Balance

Washington, Aug. 18.—A decline of 8,347,000 pesos (1 peso=$0.50) in Philippine exports in June and an increase of 13,450,000 pesos in imports resulted in the first unfavorable trade balance of the year, amounting to 7,032,000 pesos, according to a cable to the U. S. Department of Commerce from Assistant Trade Commissioner Charles P. Goodhue, Manila. According to a statement of the Philippine Customs Bureau, however, the large increase in imports was due to the inclusion of imports from the United States for the month of May, which were not recorded until June. The exact figure of these imports has not yet been released, but the average importation from the United States for the first four months of the current year was about 9,000,000 pesos. Assuming, therefore, that imports from the United States in May attained the average value, it is probable that the actual trade balance for the month of June was favorable and this in spite of the fact that the export trade of the islands was sluggish in all lines during the first half of the month.

The seasonal decline in sugar shipments continued throughout June and exports of all other leading Philippine products, except abaca (Manila hemp), decreased compared with May. Hemp shipments advanced about 590,000 pesos in value.

Due to the inclusion in the June report of the May figures of imported products registered increases, particularly automobiles, cotton piece goods, and iron and steel manufactures.

IMPROVEMENT OVER 1923

Compared with the first months of 1923, Philippine trade maintained its favorable position during the first half of the present year. Total exports for the period showed an increase of 17,605,000 pesos over a value of 134,219,000 pesos last year and imports, an advance of 15,224,000 pesos over 83,552,000 pesos in 1923.

The values of leading commodities entering into the foreign trade of the Philippines are shown in the following tables:

Is General Ward's Spirit Watching The Sungkiang Fight?

DOWN in the little Chinese city of Sungkiang, about twenty-five miles from Shanghai on the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway, where fighting started a couple of days ago, there is a little mound of earth which covers what is left of the earthly remains of a Yankee sailor lad who has been made a saint in the Confucian calendar—General Frederick Ward of Salem, Massachusetts. To this little mound of earth once every year a group of Americans, members of the General Frederick Ward Post of the American Legion in Shanghai, go and do homage to an American citizen who became a general in the Chinese Army during the Taiping Rebellion.

Fighting started between the forces of General Lu Yung-hsiang of Shanghai and General Sun Chun-fang of Fukien for the possession of Sungkiang last Tuesday night, but it is questionable whether any of these thousands of present-day modern soldiers of the Chinese Republic know that it was just 65 years ago that the town of Sungkiang was captured by General Ward, an American young man in the employ of the Chinese Government, and the force he employed in the capture consisted of only 100 Filipinos and two American lieutenants. Sungkiang at that time was in the possession of the Taiping rebels, who had already captured several cities in Honan province, and, in addition, the cities of Yochow, Hanyang, Wuchang, and even Nanking in the Yangtsze Valley. The Manchu Empire was trembling to its foundations when, in 1859, General Ward offered his services to the Chinese Government to lead the central forces against the rebels. He was first arrested and brought before the American Consul in Shanghai for violating the neutrality of the United States, but Ward stoutly maintained that he had taken Chinese nationality. The American Consul refused to accept this explanation and had Ward locked up on board the American naval vessel the Chesapeake. Not long afterward, when he was taking exercise on the deck of the steamer, he jumped overboard and swam ashore.

In China Yesterday and Today, the most excellent book recently written by Dr. Edward Thomas Williams, former Secretary of the American Legation in Peking, we read that young Ward then entered into a contract with a Chinese banking firm to capture the city of Sungkiang, for which he was to receive Tls. 30,000. He enlisted a force of sailors of various nationalities, and made the attempt but failed. Returning to Shanghai, he discharged this non-descript force and substituted one hundred Filipinos and two American lieutenants. With this small force he succeeded in driving out the Taipings and capturing the city of Sungkiang. After this success, he increased his force and attempted to capture the city of Tsingpu. Again he failed, for the rebels also had European officers there and their force was stronger than Ward's. Ward, too, was wounded. He realised then that it would be necessary to organise and drill a large body of troops. This, when his wounds were healed, he proceeded to do. The troops thus drilled, because of their successes, became later to be known as the "Ever-Victorious Army." To quote from Dr. Williams:

"Ward was a natural leader. He had great influence over his men and was admired and trusted by them. His success in holding Sungkiang against a severe attack by the Taipings, and his repeated victories over the rebels in repeated engagements, finally brought the American and British Governments to his support. China, in recognition of his services, made him a Brigadier-General. With a large Chinese army under his command, braced by his own well-drilled troops and supported by the foreign authorities at Shanghai, he soon had the country cleared of rebels within a radius of thirty miles around this port. . . . Ward continued his successes until, on the 21st of September, 1862, in the attack on Tzeki, about ten miles from Ningpo, when attempting to scale a city wall, he was shot and mortally wounded. He was highly esteemed by his Chinese associates, and his death was greatly deplored."

When the Imperial Government learned of his death, an edict was at once issued directing that honors be bestowed upon him. He was given posthumous promotion in military rank, two temples were ordered to be erected in his memory, one at Ningpo, near which city he was killed, and the other at Sungkiang, the place of his burial, and in addition to this he has been made a saint in the Confucian calendar.

In the southeastern part of the city of Sungkiang today, there is a military drill ground. Beside it there is a little temple, and within the temple courtyard the visitor today will find the grave of General Frederick Townsend Ward. The temple is of brick with a tile roof and the principal hall is built directly in front of the tomb. Within the hall is an altar and the inscription over it tells the visitor that it is dedicated to the spirit of General Ward.

Ward was born at Salem, Mass., in 1831 and tried to enter West Point but failed. At fifteen he went to sea and was with Garibaldi in South America. At twenty he sailed from San Francisco for China, landing in Shanghai in 1851. In 1859 he was an officer on the Chinese merchant steamer Confucius and—the rest of the story we have it roughly as above and in the inscription on his little monument down in Sungkiang.

The 62nd anniversary of his death was just three weeks ago. If his spirit is hovering over the little grave in Sungkiang—as the Chinese think and believe it is—we wonder what it thinks of this present Chinese war, of this war which has many points of similarity in that it is between the Peking Government and a so-called independent province. They are fighting again in the very territory which Ward marched over and the daily news reports of the battles printed in the Shanghai newspapers contain the same names of places as the reports brought into Shanghai by messengers from the front of more than a half century ago. If Ward were alive he might be able to give us an excellent account of the changes which have taken place in Chinese methods of warfare—and of China generally. Some say that history does not repeat itself, but there are persistent reports in circulation now of the drafting of foreigners—Russians this time—into the Chinese armies, but it will be pretty difficult to find among them another General Ward.

Britain And The Indemnity

THE statement which the Federation of British industries issued recently calling upon the Government to adhere to the undertaking of its predecessors, that industry would be represented in the committee established to decide the purpose to which the British share of the Boxer indemnity would be put, bears testimony to the interest which is being taken in this matter. The bill dealing with this question, is, we believe, still before Parliament, but of its ultimate passage there appears to be not the slightest doubt. That, however, deals more with the principle of foregoing the balance of the instalments, rather than with the manner of their application in the best interests of China. For at no time has it ever been suggested that the Chinese Government should be released from its obligations, but rather that the money so forthcoming should be applied to the benefit of the country at large. To this end there has been a large number of suggestions considered, most of which have centered round the education of Chinese students along western lines. Others have considered that the money could be spent in other directions, but it is now apparent that the first named suggestion still holds the field, the only real question being wrapped up in the exact method of education to be adopted.

The Federation in describing the question of the high technical training of Chinese along western lines as a highly debatable matter, undoubtedly voices the opinion of many living in the Far East. We know that a large number of Chinese young men who have been trained abroad have reached positions of eminence in China, in which they have shown unmistakable merit. We know too, that others have been educated under foreign guidance without ever leaving Chinese shores who have also done well. But there are some who have not been so fortunate. Not because of any inherent inability in themselves, but because China has not presented the openings necessary for the exercise of the training these men have secured. Such a state of affairs must militate against the eventual success of the education of Chinese youths abroad. To equip them for work of the highest technical nature, and then to send them back to China which offers insufficient opportunities for the utilisation of their training inflicts a two-fold injury—on the persons so trained who have to be reluctantly content with lesser openings, and, through their discontent on those who originally obtained that higher training for them. Such men live a veritable martyrdom in that they are educated beyond their times.

On the other hand, it is apparent that much can be done in China to advance education with the money that would be thus forthcoming, much more than if it were devoted to the education of Chinese abroad. To commence with, more men would be enabled to receive due benefit from the expenditure of the money, and they would not be taken away from their native country during some of the most impressionable years of their lives. To that extent we are inclined to agree with the Federation of British Industries as to the question raised as to the advisability of foreign education of Chinese outside their own country. We would prefer to see this carried out in China itself, and we certainly would not be content to see the money used for other purposes, especially if such use lead to the creation of some profit making institution. China has yet to go a long way before any other proposition should be entertained. Railway propositions do not appeal, for they can be subject to interference by ambitious tuchuns, can be used for the furtherance of their own political schemes, and in any event rendered inoperative for considerable stretches of time, in addition to which any scheme of that nature would in fact amount to doing for the Chinese Government what it ought to be doing for itself. Perhaps by the time ultimate decisions are arrived at by the British Government as to what shall be done with its share of the Boxer Indemnity a state of affairs will have arisen in China which will enable the formation of a proper judgment, but we should regret to see the question of education finally shelved, especially as along these lines much yet remains to be done in a manner benefitting the Chinese by the obviation of those causes of discontent which at present undoubtedly exist.

THE NEED OF CHANGING IN GOVERNMENT

The Government ought to be changed. There never was a government, that did not need changing. There never will be.

Certain reformers seem to imagine that if we could get a perfect government the ills of the nation would speedily be cured.

This is merely one form of that enthusiastic but mistaken dream to which in general mankind is prone; to wit, that we ourselves would be ideal if we only had ideal circumstances.

For government is but a circumstance, a part of our environment, one of the outward conditions to which we are subject; a very important one, to be sure.

But we might as well say, if we had an ideal family, or home, or town, or schools, or churches; for all these thinks mean simply ideal people, which you will probably never find.

We all have the perfect man; the faultless woman in our mind's eye; but we shall never see one with the eye of this flesh. The best we can do is to keep approximating to perfection as best we can.

The ideal government is simply that government where there is the maximum of order with the minimum of constraint.

We approach this only as individuals become by nature more orderly. As the citizen improves in self-control, the control of government gradually disappears.

Absolutism and privilege are necessitated by ignorance; only intelligence and altruism can bring about pure democracy.

THE CHINESE COMPANY.

A health to the native born say we,
And doff our hats to theirs.
They are out to make their China free,
So let's all do it in shares.

A health to the native born we drink,
But after this War we like to think
There'll never be fighting ag'en.

The native born, the native born;
Health and a rousing cheer.
Let's also drink to Lu's forlorn
In the liquid nicknamed "Beer."

A WORD FOR THE POLICE

Editor, The China Press:

Sir.—The S. M. C. and the Police Department do not often receive praise through your correspondence column, but I am going to ask you if you will publish for me an expression of appreciation for their foresight in securing the Vice Commission's report and their vigorous measures in enforcing the brothel elimination law during the last four and one half years.

I have had occasion recently to pass through the district that five years ago was literally alive with brothels and the streets were lined every evening with prostitutes. Now there are very few prostitutes to be seen on any street and the buildings that formerly housed them are now used for legitimate purposes.

A police force that can so well enforce the law in such difficult circumstances will, I feel sure, be able to keep the brothels and prostitutes out after they are all legally closed.

Slip-on and Coat Sweaters Divide the Honors for Late Summer

The college campus no less than the race course around Paris may be the birth place of a new fashion. Of course Paris still dictates in a measure what the rest of the world of women shall wear, but there are examples here and there of cases where women—or girls— decide what they shall wear themselves.

At this time of the year no one quite knows just what fashion will prevail for campus wear among American college girls. They may follow French modes adapted by American producers, to be sure, for evening and afternoon frocks and for more or less formal street wear in town, but they determine for themselves what they shall wear the rest of the time.

Every college has some little individual twists, some fads of its own, but there are very interesting cases of parallelism in the development of college fashions. Two or three or four or five or a hundred different groups of girls apparently working without much contact with each other hit upon the same way of wearing a sweater, or choose from a dozen possible sweaters the mode that shall be most highly favored.

This summer the coat slip-on sweater has been a general favorite with the athletic young American girl. Her brothers chose it and so did she. It is a rather loose sort of garment with sleeves that are fairly loose to the wrist where they are held in with tight knitted cuffs. Sometimes the cuff is fastened snugly with buttons and button holes. Some of the shops are showing a modification of this sweater for autumn. In place of the plain round collare line these will have narrow shawl collars, a difference that will undoubtedly make for great becomingness.

The fad for plaids will undoubtedly affect sweaters, for there are already interesting models that show a plaid front with plain knitted sleeves and back.

There is a type of light-weight slip-on sweater with an attached scarf of the same color that has been in much demand this summer and many young women have been wearing men's white slip-on sweaters—those with a "colorful fair Isle pattern" against the white back-ground being especially good.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

BY MARY MARSHALL

"COMPANY DINNER"

Perhaps you don't like the expression—company dinner? Perhaps you don't even like the notion of having "company dinners." Maybe you would rather call them guest dinners—that is what some women do.

Even when you do not wish to "put on airs" in your selection of food when company comes still there are certain things to remember when planning company dinners. For instance you must remember that you usually plan dishes knowing the personal preferences of your entire family. Certain unusual foods, or foods with strong flavor, may be acceptable to your family but might not appeal to most guests. For instance you may know that every one around your table only the family is present will relish fried onions on their beef steak—but it would be highly inconsiderate to serve this dish when there were to be guests whose taste you did not know.

It is usually rather inconsiderate to have a preponderence of shell fish at your company dinner—unless you know the taste of your guests—because there usually are persons present who do not like lobsters, crabs and the rest. Strong vegetables such as turnips and parsnips are better left off this bill of fare.

Since chicken is disliked by so few persons it is usually a safe selection, and so is lamb for the same reason. Such vegetables as peas, asparagus, green beans, are liked by nearly every one. The usual fruit favors are usually liked in desserts but it is not considerate or wise to select ice cream or other desserts flavored strongly with pistachio, marron glace, or any of the more unusual flavors, unless of course ycu know the taste of your guests.

The Angular Progression Of Time

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,

"Will you kindly inform me the difference in hours and minutes between Greenwich mean time and Washington mean time; also the difference between Washington mean time and Chicago mean time? What do they mean when they say: "Jupiter for transit at Washington?" J. E. E. Chicago.

The difference in time between wo places on the earth depends upon their angular distance apart in longitude, i. e., measured, or parallel to the equator. Since the rotation of the earth causes the sun to rise in the east and move westward across the sky to its setting in the west, sunrise, noon, etc., occur proportionally later, in absolute time, as the observer is farther west. And, since it takes twenty-four hours of mean solar time for the sun to make an entire circuit of the earth, while there are just 360 degrees in the circuit, it follows that for every fifteen (360 divided by 24) degrees increase of longitude, toward the west, the sun must be one hour later in arriving at the noon mark.

Also for every fifteen minutes of arc the difference of time must be one minute; and for every fifteen seconds of arc the difference of time must be one second.

This shows us that whatever the difference in longitude may be, as measured in degrees and minutes and seconds of arc, we can turn it into difference of time simply by dividing by 15.

Now, Washington is situated 77 degrees of longitude west of Greenwich. Divide 77 degrees by 15 and we get five hours of time and two degrees left over. These two degrees are equal to 120 minutes of arc, which, divided by 15, gives us just eight minutes of time. Thus, the total difference between Greenwich and Washington is five hours and eight minutes. The exact amount differs by a few seconds, according to the precise point in Washington chosen for the measurement of longitude. When it is noon at Geenwich it is 6.52 a.m. at Washington.

Chicago is 10 degrees 36 minutes 42 seconds of arc west of Washington. This divided by 15 gives us a difference of time between Washington and Chicago of 64 minutes 26.8 seconds. In other words, about three-quarters of an hour after the sun has marked noon at Washington it marks noon at Chicago.

It is interesting to notice that difference of distance from the equator, that is to say in a north-and-south direction, has no effect on time. All places which lie on the same meridian of longitude have the sun showing noon at the same moment, though one of these points may be on the equator, near the north pole, and another a third, near the south pole.

Since it is the rotation of the earth that gives us our fundamental measue (and perhaps our fundamental idea) of time, some persons say: "Time doesn't progress at all. It is an illusion, for if you could go around the earth from east to west as fast as it turns from west to east, the hour would never change. You could have it always noon or always sunrise, or always 9 a.m., just as you might choose. You could not grow old!"

Ah! but we know that we could and would grow old, just the same, even if we stopped the apparent diurnal revolution of the sun. If, while you were traveling around the earth as fast as the sun, you kept your watch wound up, it would continue to tell you of the unbroken advance of time. Your deepening wrinkles and dimming eyes would tell you of it even more convincingly.

The transit of Jupiter, about which my correspondent inquires, is a phenomenon similar to the nooning of the sun, and like that caused by the rotation of the earth. The nautical almanac tables show the times of the transits as observed at Washington. Like the noon transits of the sun, their times differ between Greenwich and Washington in proportion to the difference of longitude.

How much less interesting it would be to live on this globe if it did not turn!

Freight Market

In their current freight market report, Messrs. Wheelock & Co. state:

In consequence of the hostilities which have been going on in the neighborhood of Shanghai for the past month business of a general nature is gradually being curtailed and the export trade from China, with the exception of tea, is about as dead as it can be. The prolongation of civil war which has now broken out in North China can not but have eventually a very serious effect on the economic situation.

Coastwise:—War having now broken out also in North China makes the outlook for the coasting trade even worse and it is impossible to say what the outcome will be. In the meanwhile a small volume of business has been done from Wuhu to Swatow but otherwise all markets are quiet.
